Santen announced the launch of Eternity Natural Uni and Accuject UniFit, a novel acrylic intraocular lens and its dedicated injector system

January 25, 2013-- Santen Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd. (Osaka, Japan) announces the launch of Eternity Natural Uni (model: W-60), a novel single piece intraocular lens, and Accuject UniFit (model: WJ-60M), its dedicated injector system.

The new Eternity Natural Uni is based on the established Eternity material platform, which offers several advantages in long-term clarity and stability. This intraocular lens provides a minimally invasive solution with several unique new features. Owing to these advantages and features, this hybrid acrylic intraocular lens (IOL) is expected to enhance the quality of vision (QOV) of even more patients than ever before.

[Main Characteristics]

- Made of hybrid acrylic material capable of sustaining long-term transparency and free of glistenings
- Advanced haptic design to provide superior intracapsular stability in eyes along with predictable vaulting
- An original aspheric design that is customized for the Japanese patient population to achieve a target close to a healthy young eye and promises reliable enhancement of QOV

Santen believes adding Eternity Natural Uni to its current lineup of acrylic IOLs will give health care professionals more options and help raise the quality of life of more patients.
